I have a photo album for pictures from our family reunions. I have found some picture of Claston & Lucy & the kids that I will be making copies of to keep in the album. If you have any pictures of your families that you would like to share please make copies and bring them this year. Please make sure they are labeled on the back or a paper attached that tells me who they are. I think it is important to remember the past as well as the present, for without the past we would have no present.

See You Later

Dad and mom,
Aren't you a pair?
Now at last
You're together up there.
Mom, you've been awaiting Dad's arrival
According to God's promise
In your Bible.

To have had you both
For such a long while
"Makes us feel lucky"
We say with a smile.
Your firm voices
And sometimes your hand
We'll never forget
As our fannies you fanned.

You taught us all
About the Triune God
You fed us all
By working the sod.
You did your best
To teach us to labor.
Now we dont mind
You did us a favor.

It's "So long pop"
It is your turn to go
But you know
We're not feeling real sa
We'll always remembe
The great times we had

See you later
Your Children

P.S. To Jesus
Take care of them Lord
Our mom and dad
And when our time comes We'll be ever so glad
To join them there
Way up in heaven
Believing your promise
That to us was given.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

THE LORD'S PRAYER

Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be Done on earth, as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our Daily bread, and forgive us
Our trespasses, as we forgive
Those who trespass against us;
Lead us not into temptation
But deliver us from evil.
Amen

GOD'S GARDEN

God looked around His garden
And found an empty place
He then looked down upon the earth
And saw your tired face.
He put His arms around you
And lifted you to rest.
God's garden must be beautiful
He always takes the best.
He knew that you were suffering
He knew that you were in pain
He knew that you would never Get well on earth again.
He saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb.
So he closed your weary eyelids,
And whispered "Peace be thine"
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you didn't go alone
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.

Funerals Are For The Living

The funeral service is for the living because it enables family and friends to gather to express their feelings. It's a time to pay tribute, reflect on memories, gain strength from others and begin to accept one of life's many changes. A funeral service lets you and those close to you say goodbye and begin the healing process.

Your presence at this funeral is of immeasurable value. You're contributing to a fellowship of support extended to the family and relatives. For them, your attendance is comforting and reassuring. They know that you care and want to acknowledge the life that was lived. By being here, you're helping to make this service a memorable one.

A Memorial Tribute

LORD, make me an instrument of your peace.
Where there is hatred, let me sow love;
Where there is injury, pardon;
Where there is doubt, faith;
Where there is despair, hope;
Where there is darkness, light; and
Where there is sadness, joy.

O, DIVINE MASTER, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console;
to be understood as to understand;
to be loved as to love;
for it is in giving that we receive;
it is in pardoning that we are pardoned;
and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

Afterglow

I'd like the memory of me
to be a happy one,
I'd like to leave an afterglow
of smiles when life is done.
I'd like to leave an echo
whispering softly down the ways,
Of happy times and laughing times and bright and sunny days.

I'd like the tears of those who grieve, to dry before the sun
Of happy memories that I leave
When life is done.

This past year has flown by so quickly. We are always so busy it seems. The big occasion for the year was that in August we celebrated our 50th anniversary with a family party. It was a special time. We continue to sit with the little ones and laugh a lot and get lots of hugs, kisses and I love you. God has given us good health and we thank Him for that.

May the year 2000 be good to you and your family.

Guenin

Vivian and Harvey Guenin began volunteering at the Village of Heritage nursing home in Monroeville after the hospital built it six years ago for the town of Monroeville. The couple, both retired from East Allen County Schools, has pitched in with everything from painting and landscaping to patient support. Their work helps sustain both them and the hospital.

"Some of those folks are so lonely," Vivian Guenin said. "I've sat with people who were dying with no relatives. I think the thing that motivates me is that there but for the grace of God go I."

Putting her feelings in words

One day in 1988, Vivian Guenin answered the phone when everyone else was in a staff meeting. Upon discovering who Guenin was, the caller decided not to trust her with a message. Later, Guenin wrote this poem.

"Oh, you're just the custodian."
That's what some say.
I heard it over the phone today.
I know what you're thinking,
"What a menial task,"
So I'm writing to someone
  just to ask,
"Could you do this job everyday and not be upset at what some say?"

I give kisses and hugs to those in need and praises to others, their ego to feed.
I fix shoes and glasses and sew up clothes and occasionally wipe a runny nose.
I love you, you're great,
  to some I say because at home they haven't heard it today.
Sometimes I go home wiping tears from my eyes
having seen or heard what some do to these guys.

Oh, I clean toilets and sinks
  and mop the floors,
clean mud and fingerprints
  from off the doors.
I glue down carpet, hoping it stays,
and shovel and plow on bone
  chilling days.
I grease motors and mowers
  and change oil in tractors, and set up the stage for our promising actors.
I can read and write, cook, sew
  and bake,
so the next time you call, for heaven's sake,
please think a little
  before you say,
"Oh, you're just the custodian,"
  because you ruined my day.

Hoagland custodian turns her work into art

By MARCELLA FLEMING
PEOPLE STAFF WRITER

OF COURSE, SHE DOES regular janitorial work. But, Vivian Guenin, head custodian at Hoagland Elementary School, is quick to point out she's more than a cleaning lady.

And she put her reasons in poem form:

'Oh, You're just the custodian,'
that's what some say
I heard it over the phone today.
I know what you're thinking,
'What a menial task.'
So I'm writing to someone just to ask,
'Could you do this job everyday
And not be upset at what some say?'

I give kisses and hugs to those in need and praise to others, their ego to feed.
I fix shoes and glasses and sew up clothes and occasionally wipe a runny nose.
'I love you, you're great!' to some I say because at home they haven't heard it today.
Sometimes I go home wiping tears from my eyes having seen or heard what some do to these guys.

Oh, I clean toilets and sinks and mop the floors,
clean mud and fingerprints from off the doors.
I glue down carpet, hoping it stays and shovel and plow on bone-chilling days.
I grease motors and mowers and change oil in tractors
And set up the stage, for our promising actors.

I can read and write, cook, sew and bake,
so the next time you call for heaven's sake,
please think a little before you say,
'Oh, you're just the custodian,'
because you ruin my day.

I'm hoping now that she'll understand,
just what all I do with these old hands,
And I love every minute of it.

Guenin said the inspiration for the poem — and its opening line — came from a woman who called the school after hours during the school year. Guenin answered the phone. Offended by the woman's statement, Guenin decided to write a poetic description of her job, which was published in the school's newspaper.

"That woman acted like I was so unintelligent that you can't leave a message with me. Like my husband says, 'You always have to have the last word.' "

It isn't surprising that Guenin would choose an artistic response. Since she became head custodian at Hoagland Elementary, 12009 Hoagland Road, 1½ years ago, she has turned custodial work into an art form.

Soon after she transferred from being head custodian at Harding High School, Guenin began sprucing up the Hoagland school, combining her love for art and for a positive atmosphere.

The gym was in need of new paint. While she was at it, she cut out a plywood wildcat.

She painted stripes using the school's colors of blue and white and hung it on the wall above the bleachers. She also helped an employee paint a wildcat off the same pattern on the gym floor.

Guenin

"There was no school spirit in there. It was just a dumpy old gym," she said.

She is an important part of the school team, a person who believes school spirit and positive feelings are healthy, said Gerald Hapke, Hoagland principal.

Guenin, 53, a 13-year veteran custodian for East Allen County Schools, discovered her artistic talent as an adult. "I'd never tried art. I just didn't think I could do it," she said. "I never took art in school."

In 1965, she decided to learn to make ceramics. "I took a class but wasn't learning much, so I just went out and got a book, bought a kiln and started doing it," she said. She has taught non-credit ceramic classes at Hoagland.

She makes ceramics and other art objects with the idea of keeping them, but she never does. "Everything I think I'm going to keep, somebody buys."

Among her favorite at-home art projects are porcelain dolls. She made dolls, including the dresses, for her two granddaughters. She's also made ducks, small nativity scenes and music boxes.

One nativity scene grew into a shelf-style Christmas tree. Guenin took sheets of plexiglass, strung them together with chains and used the various sheets as stages for miniature scenes. She set upon the plexiglass sheets a miniature nativity scene, ski scene and a village, complete with lighted houses, courtesy of her husband. Her husband, Harvey, is East Allen County Schools' head electrician.

"We used that as a Christmas tree instead of having a green tree. But someone saw it and wanted it, so we sold it."

Besides the wildcat painting in the gym and painting various signs in the school, Guenin landscapes the school. Trees planted when the school was remodeled from a high school to an elementary school 14 years ago died soon after and were not replaced. This year, Guenin has planted a few trees, which she has watered individually because of the drought. She's also planted flowers around the school.

Taking care of Hoagland Elementary's grounds means mowing and trimming — "when there's grass," she said. This year's drought has reduced the need for much yard work.

"I love to be outdoors," said Guenin, who was also groundskeeper at Harding High School.

Since transferring to Hoagland, Guenin has become a surrogate grandmother to hundreds of schoolchildren, many of whom call her "Grandma."

Guenin is used to it. She has four grandchildren and six step grandchildren. She also has two daughters, Deb Tooley, 32, Indianapolis, and Rhonda Kramer, 29, Fort Wayne; two stepdaughters, Glenda Pray, 30, and Kathi Wilson, 28; and two stepsons, both of whom are in the Army, Randy Guenin, 27, stationed in Korea, and John Guenin, 25, in Germany.

"We went to Woodburn Days, and a child came running up to me saying, 'Hi Grandma!' I love it."
